ABOUT JOHN ROBINSON

John Robinson is a legendary Los Angeles football coach who got his start as the offense coordinator for the University of Southern California, winning a national championship with the team in 1972. John went on to be named head coach of the USC Trojans in 1976, winning four Rose Bowls and a share of the national championship in 1978. John made his NFL coaching debut as the Raiders running back coach in 1975, before returning to USC the next season. His NFL head coaching debut came in 1983 with the Los Angeles Rams before returning to USC's as head coach from 1993 to 1997. For three decades following his coaching career, John has worked in association with Sports USA radio network where he currently serves as a color analyst and has served as a board member of the Lott IMPACT Trophy committee.
