ATWATER

 FRITZ MARTIN
MANAGEMENT

A man in a yellow blazer and glasses stands at a podium, raising both hands in a celebratory gesture. The podium has an NFL logo. The background features a large blue and white logo with a football player silhouette and the word 'FOOTBALL' partially visible.

“IT REALLY IS SPECIAL KNOWING ALL THE THINGS THAT WE’VE BEEN THROUGH—WHAT HAPPENED MY ROOKIE YEAR... I KNOW MY ROOKIE YEAR WE WENT AND LOST TO SAN FRANCISCO, THEN GETTING OVER THE HUMP, STICKING WITH IT AND THEN BEING ABLE TO WIN THOSE TWO IN ‘97 AND ‘98 EVERYTHING HAD COME FULL CIRCLE. TO BE ABLE TO EXPERIENCE THAT..., IT’S ONE OF THE BEST TIMES OF MY LIFE.”

A bronze bust of a football player, likely Steve Atwater, is positioned behind the text. It is set against a dark background with a blue and white logo.

ABOUT STEVE ATWATER

Steve Atwater entered the University of Arkansas as a quarterback, but came out a prolific safety. He still holds a school record for most career interceptions. Steve was drafted by the Broncos in the 1989 NFL draft. With the Broncos, he would become a force to be reckoned with across the league, known as the hardest-hitting safety in NFL history. Winning back-to-back Super Bowls with the Broncos, being invited to 8 Pro Bowls, and named to the 90's All-Decade team, Steve had a legendary career. His NFL legacy was capped off by being inducted into the Broncos Ring of Fame and the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2020. Steve currently works as the Manager of Fan Development for the Broncos as well as an insider for the team website.
